

A photograph of a garden pond. The pond is filled with water and has several green lily pads and white water lilies. The pond is surrounded by a border of smooth, light-colored rocks. In the background, there is a green plastic chair and a brown lattice fence. The text "All Eyes on the Pond" is written in red, stylized font across the top of the image.

All Eyes on the Pond

Look Again
Lesson 6
Vocabulary

view

what you can see

She had a great view of the pond from her window. She could see everything.

gazes

long, steady looks

Short glimpses at the pond turned into gazes, or long steady looks.

tangled

twisted together so it is hard to straighten out

The dog's leash got tangled around its owner's legs.

echoes

sounds that are repeated

In the cave, they heard echoes. Every word they said was repeated again and again.

peering

looking hard or closely to see something clearly

Matt is peering closely at the photographs of his vacation, looking closely to see all the details.

peculiar

not usual, strange

Look at the peculiar way that animal wobbles around. It seems so strange.

